Using these specifications to choose a product

The orange guyline is listed as 4 m long and 3 mm in diameter, with a PP core, polyester yarn and reflective thread. Preserve all three construction terms in the specification. Reflective thread identifies a feature of the rope, not a breaking-load result. When pairing it with a tent, name the attachment and adjustment hardware separately and check the required quantities against that tent’s instructions.

Keep those values together under this reference when building a wholesale product shortlist; a value
